A CPDA - sponsored Stratovation Group study of 604 corn, soybean and wheat farmers in Q1 2026 found biopesticide use rose 9 percentage points from the 2024 study, the largest increase since tracking began. Nearly 90% of respondents were aware of biologicals including biopesticides, biofertilizers and biostimulants, evaluating inputs on performance, ROI and operational fit. University Extension and fellow farmers each gained 11 percentage points as trusted advisors.
