MustGrow Biologics announced on August 21, 2026 that it received its first development milestone payment from Bayer AG under their License and Collaboration Agreement signed in December 2023. The payment amount is confidential and was linked to technical product development milestones. The partnership grants Bayer access to MustGrow's mustard - based biocontrol technologies for soil applications across Europe, the Middle East and Africa, with Bayer handling all regulatory submissions, product development and commercialization. MustGrow estimates the combined value of upfront payments, milestones and development work could reach approximately US$35 - 40 million over 5 - 7 years, before royalties and manufacturing fees payable upon commercial sales. MustGrow's flagship technology, TerraMG, leverages natural compounds derived from mustard seed targeting soil health and the soil microbiome, backed by approximately 110 issued and pending patents.
