카드 요약 / 당시 확인 내용

The Senate Committee on Agriculture, Nutrition & Forestry held a markup of the Agricultural Act of 2026 on August 6. The committee voted 10 - 11 on whether to move the legislation to the full Senate and the motion did not pass. Senator Cory Booker proposed an amendment addressing pesticide liability protections that would allow manufacturers to voluntarily add health warnings to pesticide labels without EPA requirements, effectively circumventing federal preemption. Republicans voted unanimously against the amendment. The June 2026 Supreme Court decision in Monsanto v. Durnell interpreted federal pesticide law to prevent lawsuits over inadequate warnings when EPA does not mandate them.
