Bayer announced it is consolidating its Roundup/glyphosate business into a newly created subsidiary, Ruveon LLC, based in St. Louis, Missouri, which will oversee U.S. glyphosate pricing, go - to - market strategy, production and logistics. The move follows a recent U.S. Supreme Court victory ruling that federal law preempts state failure - to - warn laws regarding glyphosate cancer warnings. Bayer/Monsanto produces roughly 60% of glyphosate sold in the U.S. and about 40% of global sales, with the product generating $2.4 billion in revenue in 2024. Analysts speculated the restructuring could position Bayer to divest the glyphosate business to limit exposure to ongoing non - Hodgkin's lymphoma litigation.
