Dyno Nobel divested its 769,000 tpy Phosphate Hill facility to Australian firm Mayfair for AUS$1, supported by AUS$160 million in government loans. The plant, Australia's only MAP/DAP production plant, faced supply chain challenges including sulfuric acid shortages and rail disruptions affecting product transport to Townsville port. Production declined 9% year-over-year to 272,800 tonnes in the first half of 2026, while exports fell nearly 100% to just 43 tonnes between January and April. Sulfur pricing surged 136% since February amid geopolitical tensions, with Australia importing 99% of its sulfur from Canada.
