Bayer's proposed $7.25 billion settlement to resolve thousands of U.S. lawsuits alleging Roundup weedkiller caused non - Hodgkin lymphoma faces its final approval hearing before Judge Timothy Boyer of the Missouri Circuit Court in St. Louis. The hearing was delayed from August 19 to September 10 and then to September 14, 2026, after a wave of opt - out requests landed on the docket. Some plaintiffs' attorneys object that the settlement pushes their clients into a framework against their interests. Boyer is not expected to issue an immediate ruling. Bayer announced the proposed settlement in February, designed to resolve current and future Roundup claims. Bayer/Monsanto is the only U.S. manufacturer of glyphosate, producing roughly 60% of glyphosate sold in the U.S. and 40% of global sales, and in July consolidated its U.S. glyphosate business into the new entity Ruveon.
