Corteva and Globachem N.V. agreed on September 9, 2026 to form a 50/50 joint venture to support the development and delivery of new, differentiated formulated crop protection solutions for farmers in Europe and the Americas. The joint venture will be independently operated and focus on leveraging late - pipeline to commercial - stage technology from its parent companies to develop, register and market resulting products, which may be commercialized independently by one or both parents. The transaction is expected to close in the fourth quarter of 2026, subject to regulatory clearances, with first new solutions expected to launch in the early 2030s. Globachem is a Belgium - based family - owned crop protection company operating in more than 60 countries.
