China will supply approximately 1.2 million metric tons of urea to India through a state agency tender, roughly two - thirds of the 1.7 million tonnes sought. Lowest bids came in at $390.25 per tonne CFR on India's east coast and $393.65 on the west coast, submitted by Ameropa. Prices reflect a 58% decrease from April's peak of $935 - 959 per tonne, when India made emergency purchases during the Strait of Hormuz crisis; June tender prices ranged $444 - 449. Beijing's 2026 urea export allowance expanded to approximately 5 - 5.5 million tonnes, with July exports reaching about 403,000 tonnes and cumulative exports through July at approximately 907,000 tonnes. All deliveries must depart loading ports by September 24, 2026. The trade is described as the clearest sign yet that the urea price decline has supply - side momentum behind it, not just seasonal demand weakness.
